Town Politics Warming Up

It looks as though the coming municipal campaign will be a warm one. Thus far three tickets are mentioned, and there is time enough for half a dozen more to materialize before election. Thus far we have heard of a "Regular Ticket," a "Reform Ticket" and a "Socialist Ticket." The issues of the campaign will probably be based on the management of the water system, and promises to bring about interesting times.

Big Masquerade February 11

Owing to some misunderstanding about dates the big Hard-times Masquerade will positively take place on the above date. A cash prize of $5.00 will be given to the one holding the lucky number.

J. F. COLLINS, Mgr.

Miss Wood is recovering rapidly from the effects of an operation on her eye by Dr. Dawes recently, and hopes to be entirely cured of a trouble of several years standing.

Mill May Change Hands

A persistent rumor, unconfirmed as far as local people are concerned, comes from the south to the effect that a deal of some kind is on looking to the sale of the sawmill at this place. An offer for an interest in the plant is said to have been made, but nothing absolutely definite can be learned.

Wickersham Bill Killed

The Wickersham bill regulating fishing in Alaska has been laid on the table by the house committee, members of the committee declaring the house will have no time this session to consider fisheries laws for Alaska. The bill was introduced last session by Delegate Wickersham, and called for a tax of fifty cents being levied upon every box of halibut.

Halibut Prices

In the mail on the last Jefferson came the news, welcome to all fishermen here, that jobbers are paying 11 3/4 cents a pound for fresh halibut.

Cottage City Wrecked

SEATTLE, Feb. 1.—Thursday afternoon, about three o'clock, the steamer Cottage City, of the Pacific Coast S. S. Co., while on her way north, during a blinding snow storm, was carried out of her course by the treacherous tidal currents of Seymour Narrows, and struck on Steamer Rocks abreast of Cape Mudge. She immediately began to fill and settled on the rocks hard and fast, heeling over to starboard until her decks were at an angle of about twenty degrees. Wireless Operator Gittings commenced sending out a call for help immediately the vessel struck being heard by several stations, ashore and afloat, including the U. S. Life Saving Cutter Snohomish, at anchor in the harbor at Port Townsend, which left at once for the scene of the disaster.

As soon as possible Capt. Jensen notified the passengers that there was no immediate danger, but that they would have to leave the ship, and seven boats were manned, and the thirty-seven passengers and the crew of fifty were safely landed. Some of them at the Cape Mudge Light and the rest at the settlement at the mouth of Campbell River, none the worse apparently for the mishap. Officers and crew worked well, and besides the passengers, all the mail, the company papers, and specie aboard was safely landed under the care of Purser Dick Jones and U. S. Mail Clerk Andrews.

Friday morning the Snohomish arrived and took on board the passengers, their baggage, the mail, and the greater part of the crew of the wrecked boat, and left for Seattle at once, arriving there Saturday morning, leaving the Captain and three other officers standing by the wreck. The passengers and mail will go north tonight on the Jefferson.

Captain Genereaux representing the owners and the underwriters returned last night from the wreck on board the wrecking tug Salvor, bringing in the neighborhood of 100 tons of Cottage's freight and more will be rescued. He reports that the vessel is not in bad shape, and with fair weather will be raised and floated. He denies the rumor that her back is broken.

The Pacific Coast Co. will get another steamer, the Ramona, out on her run about the sixth of the month.

Yesterday this paper wired the Alaska Press Association, Seattle, for the latest authentic news of the Cottage wreck, and received the above. In addition the following items of occurrences at Washington D. C., Tuesday and Wednesday of this week: The House by a vote of 259 to 43 decided on San Francisco as the Panama exposition city. The Senate will probably concur.—The Senate refuses to affirm the nomination of Harper as collector of customs of the Puget Sound district. Senator Piles wants his brother appointed.—The President has named Clyde Walker register of the Juneau land office. He has had charge of the office since Dudley's removal.—Senate committee unanimously recommends the enactment of the Nelson bill providing for the leasing of Alaskan coal lands on a royalty basis ranging from five to ten cents per ton, with an amendment added to the original bill prohibiting any transportation company or any stockholder therein being interested, directly or otherwise, in any lease. The amendment also reduces the area of the ground

School Closes For A While

Awaiting the arrival of new teachers, the local school closed Tuesday afternoon, and the kids have been having the time of their lives since. The expectations are that the new teachers Mrs. Katherine M. Burke and Miss Katherine Pritchett, of Pioche, Nev., will arrive on either the Humboldt or the Ramona, and school will reopen Monday, February 13.

leased from 3200 acres to 2560 acres, and that three-fourths of the proceeds of the leases shall be expended in Alaska. Wickersham is opposing the bill on the ground that the royalty should be 20 to 30 cents.—The Administration bill creating a permanent tariff board of five members passes the House.—President writes special message to Congress urging the passage of a reciprocal treaty between the United States and Canada.—The Senate accepts an amendment appropriating $50,000 for a wagon road from Seward to the Iditarod.

Webster's NEW INTERNATIONAL Dictionary, (G. & C. Merriam Co., Springfield, Mass.) surpasses the old International as much as that book exceeded its predecessor. On the old foundation a new superstructure has been built. The reconstruction has been carried on through many years by a large force of trained workers, under the supervision of Dr. W. T. Harris, former United States Commissioner of Education, and reinforced by many eminent specialists. The definitions have been rearranged and amplified. The number of terms defined has been more than doubled. The etymology, synonyms, pronunciation, have received unsparing scholarly labor. The language of English literature for over seven centuries, the terminology of the arts and sciences, and the every-day speech of street, shop, and household, are presented with fullness and clearness. In size of vocabulary, in richness of general information, and in convenience of consultation, the book sets a new mark in lexicography.

400,000 words and phrases.

Amid the screaming of whistles the Kuslana bridge on the Cordova railroad was finished last month. A. C. O'Neil was the engineer in charge.

Henry Schaffer, a Cordova milkman, after a terrific struggle with a colored burglar, managed to lay out his assailant with the aid of a stove leg.

A discovery of tremendous importance to the welfare of the Kougarkok was made as the result of the heavy rainy season just past. As a result of the high water in the ditches the overflow from the Gav-in ditch cut its way through the tundra and disclosed a vein of lignite coal three feet wide and some 30 feet long.

You have neither expertness or deadly intent. You cannot afford to stake everything upon a wrist-straining, trigger-flinching, slow-as-molasses firearm. Settle this matter to-day for the sake of your family. Get the Savage automatic. The only gun that points straight, shoots true, fires fast, without practice. It is the only gun you can shoot straight any time you pick it up. He says it is so soft and deep that a man on skis would be able to run down a deer or a wolf in the open glades.
